Remarkable Escape of a Slave.

We understand a vessel has arrived here from Wilmington, N. C., bringing a yellow girl belonging to Mr. G. W. Davis, of that city. She was secreted on board by the mate. A bed was thrown into the poop for her to lie upon, and concealed by piling wood around it. The authorities of Wilmington, almost knowing her to be on board, made repeated searches, and smoked the vessel several times, after loudly announcing that they would smother her if she did not show herself. Upon coming out of the river the vessel was boarded by the posse for the last time, and had the girl been found the captain would have been in great peril, notwithstanding he knew nothing of care of the second mate; but in the evening the first mate went aboard, and persuaded the second mate to go on shore upon an errand. He returned, however, so quickly that the mate had not time to get off with his prize, but hid her in another place, where she was discovered by the steward. He told the two mates, who were then conversing in the cabin, that there was a woman on board; but the first mate laughed at the story. Soon after, the second mate went into his own room, when the mate took the girl from her concealment, and run with her rapidly up

WILMINGTON, N. C., Jan. 5th, 1850. The friends of the Wilmington & Manchester Rail Road met this evening, according to announcement, at Masonic Hall, at 7 o'clock, and were organized on notion of M. London, Esq., by the appointment of Thos. H. Williams, Chairman, and James G. Green and ELI W. HALL, Secretaries.

The Chairman, in a few appropriate and felicitous remarks, having explained the object of the meeting, Gen. HARLEE, the President of the Road, in response to loud and reiterated calls, then arose and addressed the assembly in a speech truly worthy the great AN INDIAN STATE.-The Cherokee Indians, it is cause in which he is enlisted. He reported the prosaid, design to apply for admission into the Union, in gress and condition of the work; demonstrated the manifold advantages which must accrue to the town of Wilmington from its completion, and asserted the creased action upon the part of her citizens, in this, the crisis of the Road's destiny.

John A. Lillington, Esq., of Davie, then being patriotism and public opirit of the people of Wilmington, made the following proposition, viz: That in order to make up the $750,000 necessary to be subscrileans from Chagres, on the 3d inst., with $260,000 bed before the State of South Carolina can be called upon for her appropriation of $200,000, fifty gentlemen form themselves into a Company, for the pur-pose of subscribing in the Capital Stock of the Wil-dred thousand dollars. A subscription list with a a caption to this effect being placed upon the table, a number of gentlemen promptly affixed their names thereto, and in a few minutes, the sum subscribed amounted to $30,000.

The Committee for soliciting subscriptions reported they had not obtained the amount desired, but requested to report progress, stating the amount subscribed to be $53,500. On motion, the report was received, and the Committee requested to continue heir exertions and report to-morrow evening.

M. London, Esq., having been called on, entertained the meeting with an able speech, setting forth the great advantage of the Road to the town of Wilmington, and advocated with force and earnestness the propriety of the town subscribing $100,000. He was followed by Messrs. Davis, Mearcs, Bellamy, and Harles each of when the subscribing strong are described as the subscribing strong are described as the subscribed are subscribed as the subscribed as the subscribed are subscribed as the subscribed as Harlee, each of whom, with power and eloquence, advocated the claims of the Road on the town of Wilof the several gentlemen were received with frequent heir efforts by increasing the subscription to $65,-000. Mr. Cassidey, with a few appropriate remarks, inquired of the Committee if they had waited on the Ladies, soliciting their aid and assistance. The Committee, through Mr. Parsley, stated they had not. On motion of A. J. DeRosset, Jr., Esq., James Cassidey was added to the Committee on subscription, and was requested to take particular charge of the Ladies. On motion of O. G. Parsley, Esq., the meeting adourned, to meet at Masonic Hall to-morrow evening T. H. WILLIAMS, Ch'n. Jos. J. LIPPITT, Secretary.

The Meeting Last Night. The meeting last night was very numerously attended, and the most enthusiastic feeling prevailed in relation to the Wilmington & Manchester Railroad. The Committee reported the subscription to have reached $76,300, which was swelled during the meet ing to $80,500.

A number of Ladies graced the meeting, and cheer ed by their presence and approbation the citizens as-sembled on the occasion. The Committee have no doubt of raising the full amount of $100,000 to day.

The officers of the meeting were the same as above.

WASHINGTON, December, 1849 "Here I am, in the American capital. Washington is the head of an empire larger than that of the Romans who filled the world with their renown .-The moderns hasten to visit the remains of the great republics of antiquity; they go among the ruins of palaces, of columns, of triumphal arches, and meditate on the instability of human grandeur. meditations are rather meditations on death than life The torch of civilization has left the Roman world civilization has crossed the Atlantic: it is on the American shores that the true philosopher must come ries to attain grandeur and civilization; the American empire has become great and civilized in less than a century. It may be said to have sprung like Minerva from the head of Jupiter. Washington brings to mind Rome. Not that the seven hills are to be seen, but because in this vast area a few houses are seattered here and there. But while the voids in Rome result from the ravages of time, and are covered with ruins, the voids in Washington are those of a virgin soil, and, while every day increases the remains of Rome, every day fills a space marked by the foresight of the founder of Washington. Next to them, in ignorance, are the officers of the Russian infantry. But they pretend to deep wisdom and learning, and, although they cannot read, they are fond of making their appearance in reading-rooms and book-shops. In these laces, they will stop any length of time, handling the books, and looking at the title pages, with a show of intense interest. One day I watched one of these gentlemen, who sat quietly, for two hours, pretendig to read the Deutche Zeitung. I watched him be-cause I wanted the paper. When he had done, I cause I wanted the paper. When he had done, I asked him what he had read. He looked a little puzzled, but after a while he said: 'Oh, lots of news: the doings of the world. I read the paper, and found that it contained not a word of news from Hungary and Turkey. and the Parliamentary debates, which are published under the head of 'England,' had nothing whatever to do with the marching of troops. The best instructed officers of the Russian army are the natives Kurland. The meeting testified the appreciation of corps of the Russian army. The guns are all, well made, and fitted up with all the fashionable improvements. But they are clumsily served, for the regulations for drilling the men are of the most unpractical character. Thus, at Grochon, the three hundred and twenty-three guns of Diebitsch were paralyzed by the sixty-three guns of the Polish batteries. Russian government spend immense sums on the ord-nance, and the number of their guns is enormous.— Russia can, at any time, devote four hundred guns to a foreign war, while in Russia she would fight with no less than seven hundred. All the fences in the rush of the water against it. All the fences in the vicinity were thrown down, and a large surface of the country inundated. Madame Devallien, and her family had a very narrow escape on the night when the crevasse occurred, (29th.) having been nearly swept sway by the current. Take heed, oh! good tr coat envelope the town, while cold winds penetrate and bluster through the night; nor does a morning sun now lend its warmth to dissipate the chill and heavy fog and secure for the city an hour's respite of pleasant weather, ere a dusty, disagreeable noon comes on. But here we are in the midst of October. with pleasant manly faces surrounding us, and the light forms of lovely women glancing down the streets, and in and out of stores, achieving, without a fear of rough winds, their dearest pleasure, that of shopping—while the gent ventures abroad in summer attire. with white kids and fashionable appointments to witness the magician's wand level old dilapidated structures, and send up from their ruins good three story evidences of our enterpsise and wealth.

The wharves are heaped up with merchandise, the streets are lined with ponderous boxes and bales of goods, (and somebody says to the Council, not in a proper condition for winter rains.) while loaded drays block up the thoroughfares, or by a lusty "look out," from the driver startle the looker on, and warn him that this is the age and place in which he must keep stirring, else be ridden down, or "go to the wall, with the weakest.

The Markets are well supplied with fruits of the country, and the products of our vines—delicious grapes, for which California can meritoriously claim unexcelled qualities-are brought in from the interior in great abundance. Speaking of a dance, a grand fancy ball came off the other evening at the Bella Union, which was well attended by the generality of ball going characters about town. The Steamer Mint having commenced regular trips to Sacrameto City, on her last, brought into this market a supply of fresh Sacramento Salmon, which very readily sold at one dollar the pound. Think of this, ye Eastern epicures, a single fish in California sold for forty-five dollars!

The rainy season, which may commence "in all next month," suggest to those owning perishable goods now exposed to the weather, that a good shelter will soon be required: and to so-journers in canvass houses, that their rooffs may need repair. "To your tents, O Israel!" we say once more.

ANECDOTE OF DR. FRANKLIN.—It is related of Dr FRANKLIN, that once, while in France, he had a dispute with a nobleman upon the question, whether the majority ought to rule in State affairs, or whether the educated and well informed few should govern. The nobleman advocated the latter proposition, and Dr. FRANKLIN defended the former. After some debate, the nobleman proposed to let the matter be decided by the company present, and being surrounded by his own friends, they all rose at once on his side, and left the Doctor alone. "Well," said he, "according to your own principles, I have gained my cause: you represent the ignorant majority, and I, the wise minority, decide that you are wrong, and must yield."

THE KING OF RIVERS.—The Mississippi is mighty in his imperial dignity, but more mighty in his lessons of unity and confederation. That matchless tide is the magic cestus which insures the harmony of the sovereign States of the Union, and no peevish eruption of unsisterly jealousy can dispart the silver zone that so firmly and graciously binds their varied climes and products into one common interest. ARRIVALS AT NEW YORK AND BOSTON.—The whole number of vessels which have arrived at the port of New York from foreign ports, during the past year, is stated at 3.227, 82 more than 1848, of which 811 are American vessels. The number of passengers arrived during last year is 221,799 exceeding, by 29, 890, the extraordinary number in 1848; nearly double the immigration of 1847, and nearly treble that of any previous year. The number of foreign arrivals vessels at Boston, during the year 1849, was 3,111, an increase of 102 over 1848, and of 1,483 over 1840. October.—We are gliding, peacefully, happily, midway along through the glorious California month of October. The Plantation contains six hundred and forty acres, of which about one hundred and fifty are cleared and in a good state of cultivation. A large part of the land cleared, is low lands, and they produce as well as any lands on the river; they are high, and not subject to ordinary freshets. The wood-land is well timbered with oak and pine.

There is a good dwelling house and kitchen, together with other out-houses on it; there is also a good site for a family grist mill, on a very good stream.

Persons desiring particular information about the above place, will call on Joseph R. Kemp, or Benj. Fitzeandolph.

Terms:—The purchaser will be required to give bonds with two good securities, payable in one, two and three years after date, with interest from day of sale.

FRESH DRUGS, MEDICINES, &c. JUST Received at Shaw's Drug Store, third J door North of HART & POLLEY'S, Front Street, Wilmington, North Carolina, where Physicians, country Merchants, and all others, who desire to consult their own interest, can purchase the best Drugs and Medicines, Paints, Oils and Dye Stuffs, Perfumery and Patent Medicines, Gardon Escale, feesh from Days I apparent's rainterest, can purchase the best Drugs and Medicines, Paints, Oils and Dye Stuffs, Perfumery and Patent Medicines, Garden Seeds, fresh from David Landreth's, Philadelphia, and every other article usually kept in a Drug Store, 25 per cent. cheaper than similar goods can be obtained at perhaps any other house in the State.

The subscribers would beg to remind those Physicians who patronized the late WM. Shaw, that they can still be supplied with everything of the best quality, and on the most reasonable terms. No exertion will be spared to render satisfaction to those who may favor us with their patronage, and we respectfully solicit a call before purchasing elsewhere. We have just received a fresh supply of those instruments for affliction of the spine, so highly recommended by the Medical faculty of New York and Philadelphia, and which are a certain preventive against consumption, and are indispensable to Clerks and others confined to a sedentary life, none of whom should be without them. Also, a fresh arrival of Spencer's Pills, which are warranted to cure headache in twenty-five or thirty minutes' time. In the operation they are the most agreeable Pills ever invented; acting upon the stomach and bowels, and bringing the liver to its proper functions, they cannot fail to restore the system health, strength and vigor. LANDS' SARSAPARILLA, IN QUART BOTTLES,

Mouth of Neuse River, Craven county, N. C.

Ulser Curved of Seven Years Standing.

This cure was effected in July, 1844; there have been no symptoms of a return, and her health still continues good, July, 1848:

New York, July 25, 1844.

Messrs. Sands—Gentlemen: I consider it but an act of justice to you to state the following facts in reference to the great benefit I have received in the cure of an obstinate Cancerous Ulcer on my breast.

I was attended eighteen months by a regular and skillful physician, assisted by the advice and counsel of one of our most able and experienced surgeons, without the least benefit whatever. All the various methods of treating cancers were resorted to; for five weeks in succession, my breast was burned with caustic, three times a day, and for six it was daily syringed with a weak solution of nitric acid, and the cavity or internal ulcer was so large that it held over an ounce of the solution. The doctor probed the ulcer and examined the bone, and said the disease was advancing rapidly to the lungs, and if I did not get speedy relief by medicine or by an operation, the result would be fatal. I was advised to have the breast laid open and the bones examined; but finding no relief from what had been done, and feeling I was rapidly getting worse, I almost despaired of recovery, and considered my case enarly hopeless.

Seeing various testimonials and certificates of cure by the use of Sanda' Sarsaparilla, in cases similar to my own, I concluded to try a few bottles, several of which were used, but, from the long deep-scated character of my disease, produced no very decided change. Considering this as the only probable cure for my case, I persevered until the disease was entirely cured. It is now over eleven months since the cure was completed; there is not the slightest appearance of a return. I therefore pronounce myself well... and the cure entirely effected by Sanda' Sarsaparilla, as I took no other medicine of any kind during the time I was using it, nor have I taken any since.

Please excuse this long deferred acknowledgment, which I Please excuse this long deferred acknowledgment, which I think it my duty to make. Your valuable Sarsaparilla cured inc, with the blessing of Divine Providence, when nothing else could; and I feel myself under lasting obligations to you. I can say many things I cannot write, and I do most respectfully invite ladies afflicted as I have been to call upon me, and I will satisfy them fully of the truth as stated above, and many other things in reference to the case.

We have read again and again of the officacy of this invalua-We have read again and again of the efficacy of this invaluable medicine—if we can call a very pleasant beverage medicine—but not until recently have we had any positive proof which could induce us to speak fairly of it. But, from facts in our possession, we are now well convinced that, without any exception, it is the SAFEST, PLEASANTEST, and BEST compound ever offered to the public, for the cure of all chronic diseases, rheumatism and serofula, and all impurities of the blood, together with many other complaints.—Hartford Review.

Sore Throat.

The following is an extract from a letter received from Mrs. Bevan, who had been afflicted several years with Scrofulous Ulcers, Dyspepsia, &c., and recently an affection of the throat and chest:

Messrs. A. B. & D. Sands—Before I commenced using your strong was expression; my throat was completely ulcerated, I had a dreadful cough, and there were frequently weeks together that I could not speak above a whisper; and besides, the inflammation from my throat extended to my head, so that my hearing was very much impaired. After taking the Sarsaparilla a short time, my health improved, and my throat is now well; I am as free from cough and tightness of the chest as ever I was, and can hear quite distinctly. My throat has been well about three months, the cure of which has been effected entirely by the sar of your Sarsaparilla. Your friend, Baileysburg, Va., Dec'r 13, 1845. use of your Sarsaparilla. CHERRY!

To Elderly Persons.

Many healthy aged individuals, who know the value of Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, make it a rule to take it two or three times a week, by which they remove the causes that produce disease, preserve their health, and keep off the infirmities of age.

Clergymen, Auctioneers, and all Public Speakers, say that Dr. Swayne's Wild Cherry gives that vigor to the voice that cannot be obtained from any other article.

DATED ANDERSONTOWN, IND.

Dr. Swayne—Dear Sir: All your medicines sell well, and give good satisfaction. Your valuable Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry has been the means of restoring some hopeless cases in this section. Your Pills are most excellent. I want you to send a good supply of them. A man purchased a bottle of your Vermifuge the other day for his child, and by its use discharged sixty-three of the largest worms he had ever seen. It is somewhat difficult to get the people to try it, as they have been so often gulled by nauseous and worthless worm medicines. Yours being so very pleasant to the taste, at the same time effectual, I shall be able to dispose of a large quantity.

Respectfully, yours, &c.,

TOWNSEND T. SHARP, P. M.

Important Caution.-Read? Read?

There is but one genuine preparation of Wild Cherry, and that is Dr. Swayne's, the first ever offered to the public, which has been sold largely throughout the United States and some parts of Europe; and all preparations called by the name of Wild Cherry have been put out since this, under cover of some deceptive circumstances, in order to give currency to their sales. Each bottle of the genuine is enveloped with a beautiful steel engraving, with the likeness of William Penn thereon; also, Dr. Swayne's signature, and as a further security, the portrait of Dr. Swayne will be added hereafter, so as to distinguish his preparations from all others.

Swayne's Colebrated Vermifuge. "A safe and effectual remedy for worms, dyspepsia, cholera morbus, sickly or dyspeptic children or adults, and the most useful Family Medicine ever offered to the public."—This remedy is one which has proved successful for a long time, and it is universally acknowledged by all who have tried it to be far superior (being so very pleasant to the taste, at the same time effectual) to any other medicine ever employed in diseases for which it is recommended. It not only destroys incases for which is is recommended. It not only desarys worms, but it invigorates the whole system. It is harmless in its effects, and the health of the patient is always improved by its use, even when no worms are discovered.

Beware of Mistakes.—Remember, Dr. Swayne's Vermifuge is now put up in square bottles, (having recently been changed,) covered with a beautiful wrapper, (steel engraving,) with the portrait of Dr. Swayne thereon engraved. Bear this in mind and be not deceived.

A mild and effective purgative, great purifyer of the blood, they correct all the functions of the Liver, and as an alterative in Dropsical affections, they are very valuable. Giddiness of the head, dimness of sight, depression of spirits, handache, &c., are cured by these purifying Pills. No medicine can have a better effect for monthly irregularities, which occasionally happen to women; they are perfectly safe, and will, in conjunction with Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, take all pain and disease from every part of the system.

Thirty-First Congress-First Session. Thursday, January 3, 1850.

SENATE Pursuant to adjournment the Senate met. After the presentation of petitions and memorials, chiefly of a private nature, Mr. Atchison, of Missouri, pre-sented a series of resolutions passed by the Legislature of Missouri. These resolutions are of similar import with those passed by the Legislatures of South Carolina, Virginia, and other Southern States, declaring the Wilmot Proviso and kindred measures unconstitutional, and pledging the co-operation of Missouri in any measures which may be deemed necessary to repel such encroachments.

The final resolution instructs the Missouri Senators, and requests her Representatives in Congress, to act in conformity with these resolutions.

Mr. Benton made some observations, stating his opinion that the resolutions do not express the feelings of the people of Missouri. That, in so far as they avow any disposition to resist by force of arms any law of Congress, they are unauthorized by those people, and beyond the power of the Legislature to pass. He deprecated everything that looked like resistance, and denied the power of the State Legislature to offer it. The resolutions were ordered to be printed.

Various private papers were, on motion, withdrawn from file, and referred to the appropriate committees. Several bills were introduced on leave, mostly of a private or local character. Mr. Davis, of Mississip-pi, introduced a bill to increase the efficiency of the army by a retired list for disabled officers. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. Notice was given of an intention to introduce certain bills; among Badger gave notice of his intention to intro duce a bill providing for the repayment to the State of North Carolina of $9,382 43, with interest, for expenses of North Carolina Volunteers.

Mr. Mason gave notice of his intention to ask leave to introduce a bill providing for the more effectual execution of the third clause of the second section of the constitution of the United States. [The one providing for the security and recapture of runaway negroes escaping into other States.]
Mr. Dickinson gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill for a branch mint at New York. After reports of some Committees had been received, Mr. Cass gave notice that he should to-morrow ask for the consideration of the resolution submitted by him on the 24th ultimo, as follows: Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Relations be instructed to inquire into the expediency of suspending diplomatic relations with Austria. Mr. Foote gave notice that on Monday he would ask for the consideration of his resolution declaring it expedient for Congress at this session to provide Territorial governments for California, Deseret, and

Mr. Seward moved that the resolutions offered by Mr. Cass and by Mr. Foote, be printed. Mr. Hale moved, as an amendment to Mr. Foote's resolution, the addition of the following words:

"Securing to the inhabitants of those Territories all the privileges and liberties secured to the inhabitants of the Northwest Territory by the ordinance of July 13, 1787." After some sharp discussion, the resolutions were ordered to printed. A discussion arose upon the appointment of chaplains. Several petitions were presented against it, on the ground that it tended to an establishment of

It was signed by the President of the Senate, and transmitted to the President for signature. This is the first bill of the session, and passed unanimously.

Mr. Dickinson submitted a resolution, which lies over under the rule, calling upon the Postmaster General for information in regard to the number and names of all Postmasters removed before the expiration of the terms for which they were commiss together with the number and names of those ap-pointed in the stead of officers so removed, and the causes of such removals, together with the authority under which they were made. After the adoption of several unimportant resolutions, the Senate adjourned. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. to refer the application of Messrs. Smith and Babbit. for seats in the House, as delegates from New Mexico and Descret respectively, to the Committee on Elections, was ruled out of order, as were several other motions, and the order of the day declared to be the nominations of candidates for Clerk of the House. when several candidates were put in nomination.

and, upon the first ballot, the vote stood as follows: C. W. Phifleo..... 8 L. Gouverneur 5 N. Sergeant..... 3 P. B. Pringle 4 J. H. C. Mudd.... S. P. Benson 2 . Foote

Necessary to a choice 105: no election. Upon another vote being taken, Mr. Forney received 103 votes, and Mr. Campbell 81; Mr. Forney only wanting two votes of an election. Mr. Forney is the caucandidate of the Democrats. Mr. Campbell is the old Clerk, and is supported by the Whigs. Shortly after the second vote, the House adjourned.

FRIDAY, January 4.

SENATE. After the presentation of petitions and memorials, the submission of certain resolutions which lie over under the rules, Mr. Mason obtained leave and introduced his bill for giving better facilities for recovering runaway slaves. Read twice and referred to the committee on the Judiciary, and ordered to be printed. Mr. Badger's bill in relation to the refunling of Volunteers' expenses to the State of N. Carolina, was read and referred to the committee on Military Affairs. The bill for the Branch Mint at New York was read and referred to the committe on Finance. Mr. Benton gave notice, that when the bill came before the Senate, he should move for a Branch at San Francisco; and Mr. Butler gave similar notice in regard to a mint at Charleston, S.C. The bill and amendments were then ordered to be printed.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the following resolution of Gen. Cass: Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Relations be instructed to inquire into the expediency of suspending diplomatic relations with Austria.

Mr. Cass addressed the Senate in an able speech which occupies between four and five columns of the Union. He urged the adoption of the resolution as a proper rebuke from a free and enlightened people to the butchers of the nineteenth century. He also showed that our commerce with Austria was almost nothing, and carried on at the single port of Treiste, consequently our interests could not suffer. General Cass spoke of the new Minister to Austria as his personal friend, and added, that if the question of his confirmation had been before the Senate unembarrassed by other considerations, his vote should certainly be given for his confirmation, but running away as Col. Webb had appeared to do, as though he feared to abide the decision of the Senate, he must vote for his rejection. He would vote for the rejection of every diplomat or other officer who acted in this manner. Mr. Seward spoke in defence of Col. Webb, and resented the introduction of his name, or the censure upon his conduct. He said that Col. Webb was his lear, near, and personal friend; and at the proper time he would furnish the Senate with reasons Col. Webb's precipitate departure, independent of those alleged by Gen. Cass.

Mr. Foote addressed the Senate at length in answer to Mr. Seward. He perfectly used him up.— Foote's speech is spoken of as a piece of the most scorching sarcasm which has ever been heard in the HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. The order of the day was the election of Clerk.

Upon leave, Mr. Chandler presented a memorial from John S. Littell, contesting the seat of John Robbins, Jr., as a member of the House. Referred to the Committee on Elections.

From the Liverpool Chronicle. The Consumption of Cotton.

The following communication will be found to pos ess some interest for a large class of commerci persons at the present time: At the present time, when it is of vital importance to the interests of a large class of manufacturing capitalists, and of the industrious population depen-dent on that great branch of our national manufactures, to ascertain how far an adequate supply of the raw material, at a sufficiently moderate price, may be secured, it is desirable to consider the question more calmly and comprehensively than is usually done by parties embarked in speculative operations, whose opinions, as well as their statements, are natuwhose opinions, as well as their statements, are naturally biased by their interests.

Whether the immense rise which has taken place increasing in a greater ratio than production, arising from a disproportionate amount of industrious capi-tal in this and other countries having been directed to manufacturing operations, compared with that employed in raising a correspondingly increased quantity of the raw material; or, whether a considequantity of the raw material; or, whether a considerable part of the advanced price is to be attributed on either side of the drill. Here the effect was very to the abundance of unemployed capital in the hands of bankers, and the consequent facilities afforded for speculative operations, it is certain, that in this, as recent enhancement of price.

is apparent that the American planter has now the stimulus held out to excite his diligence and activity, of double the price for his produce, that he could have looked for this time last year. If such an incentive proves inadequate to bring forward an ample

The error generally made by persons imperfectly informed on the subject, and by their interested advisers, is, in considering the consumption of cotton, too much as a fixed quantity. They know that it is incur though his works were idle, from loss of interest on capital, insurance, local and national taxes. expense of keeping his machinery in order, &c. &c.; sentatives, announcing that the Speaker had signed the bill extending the franking privilege to Mrs. Polk.

It was signed by the Provided to the speaker had signed sumption of cotton will go on, notwithstanding a considerable rise in prices, provided the margin is not overstepped when the necessity of stopping the machinery becomes indubitable.

According to the description and size of yarn to be made, will depend tion of the harrow in mixing the earth and separating the quantity of cotton capable of being used. For the wheat and guano. The result of this experiment example, and not to take a very extreme case, a mill was not entirely satisfactory, having averaged only manufacture a quantity of cotton equal to eight or true it was an unfavorable season with me, and that Upon the meeting of the House, motions were made ten mills of the same extent arranged for spinning my most indifferent field. Notwithstanding, however, refer the application of Messrs. Smith and Babbit, No. 60 mule warps. When we hear, therefore, of certain mills being stopped or put on short time in guano upon the wheat could have been seen to the consequence of the advanced price of the raw material, it is necessary to know the description of yarn spun by them to be able to judge accurately of the effect to be produced on the quantity of cotton confield in wheat this fall, on which the guano was used

The failure sible nor very inconvenient to vary this range to a on the former occasion must mainly be ascribed to moderate extent, according to the demand and other the season, as a portion of my farm joining, even with circumstances, as well as to the state of the cotton the disastrous frosts of last spring, and without guamarket. Such changes involve neither outlay nor no, averaged 16 bushels to the acre, and although loss of time, and are resorted to, in individual cases, superior in quality, that fact was still not sufficient every day, to meet very trifling alterations in the style of goods wanted. And to show the important bearing of such changes on the consumption of the

It is in this manner, indeed, that rapid changes in the quantity of cotton consumed are generally produced, rather than by a sudden increase in the number of mills, or from improvements in machinery, to which causes the variations in consumption are frequently ascribed, though it must be obvious that they must operate slowly and gradually.

In coarse yarns two-thirds of the price arises from the cost of the raw material, and that proportion con-stantly diminishes as you ascend to finer numbers. When cotton is cheap, therefore, the cost of heavy goods, which are made from coarse yarns, is diminished in a much greater ratio than the lighter de-scriptions made from finer yarns; the demand will lways increase with a diminished cost; these heavy goods, so long as the raw material remains cheap, will relatively be the most profitable.

On the other hand, when cotton is dear, the cost of such heavy goods is increased in a greater ratio than others; but the extended consumption having been the result of low prices, can only be maintained by the same means. The manufacture becomes unprofitable, part of the machinery is directed to a somewhat finer range of spinning; another part is put on reduced time, and, perhaps, a portion stopped altogether, till either the diminution of production creates such a scarcity of the manufactured article as leads to higher prices, or a reduction in the price of the raw material again assimilates the cost to the elling price of such goods. The present aspect of things in the cotton manufacturing districts, affords a striking illustration of the working of this natural rocess, and is calculated to open the eyes of those who are apt, in judging of the probable prices of the raw material, to confine their attention to the prospects of supply.

And the inference to be drawn, from the consideration of this reciprocal action of prices upon con-sumption, is not limited to the check which it imposes on an undue rise in the price of the raw material t ought, also to impart confidence in the grower,

BY DR. DUPUY, OF PETERSBURG, VA.

To the Editor of the American Farmer: DEAR SIR: It is but fair that those who reap the benefit of other men's labor should in turn contribute their portion. It therefore gives me pleasure to do, what in justice I feel bound to do. When you requested me to furnish you something for publication in your September number relative to my operations with guano, I was very much indisposed, and continued indisposition, with the necessity of a trip to the mountains, has delayed a compliance with your request till it is perhaps too late to answer your purpose for this season. Of this, however, you must be the judge. In the autum of 1844, the use of guano began to in the price of cotton during the past twelve months, be altogether the legitimate result of consumption increasing in a greater ratio than production, arising on a small scale. You will bear in mind that at that time the only mode of application known or thought of with us, was on the surface. No one would have in all similar cases, nothing could be contrived more effectually to stimulate an increased supply than the ecent enhancement of price.

When the expense of freight and other charges is educted from the market prices at both periods, it pounds guano and half bushel dripped ashes, all joinsupply, it will be the best justification of the late ad- soon passed away. No. 3-Guano at same rate, ploughed in 5 or inches deep. No manure. No. 4—Had neither guano nor manure, but was of the interest of a mill owner to continue to work his better quality than the other fields. It was the site machinery, not merely without profit, but even at such a loss as does not exceed that which he would riched by drippings from the stock. I think it would have yielded twice as much as either of the others. Products-No. 1 yielded 44 bushels to the acre.

No. 2 " 411 No. 3 " 414 No. 4 " 33

The above experiments encouraged me to continu a further use of the article, and consequently I applied it in the seeding of my wheat in October, 1847,— 250 lbs. per acre to my corn ground, and 200 lbs. to all times when a cotton mill is at work, it must ne- a field of wheat stubble. The land was fallowed, and the guano was applied and harrowed in with the material. It is true, that when a mill is crected and filled with machinery, there is not only a particular should get it in deeper. I would here remark, that description of yarn, but a particular size, or range of if brought in immediate contact with wheat, corn, or adapted to spin coarse numbers of water twist, will about 8 or 9 bushels to the acres throughout. It in the above-named experiments; and if I use it asuming.

But while there is a particular range of numbers, gain, as I have some thought of doing, I hope to have to account for the difference in the product. I have seen guano applied with peculiar and stri-king benefit to oats, and I have used it on most of the raw material, it is only necessary to state that, sup- garden vegetables to advantage. I am not a grower posing the average number of yarn spun in this country to be raised only from No. 35 to No. 40, the quantry to be raised on the quantry to be raised on the part of the part of the part of the of tobacco, but have had such representations of its tity of cotton consumed in a year would be diminished not less than a quarter of a million of bales, and A combination of moisture with the guano is absoyet neither the time of working nor the number of persons employed be at all reduced. of putting it under the surface, as also to prevent the escape of the ammonia so necessary to the growth of the crop and to the fertility of the soil.

That guano is a powerful and active manure there can be no question. Its durability is the only doubt about its value, and that, I hope, will be soon tested. If, however, it should appear that its effects are not permanent, still it might be a valuable applicant on account of the quick return upon the investment. If the hopes of its best friends should be realized, I think not the least of its advantages will be, that smaller farms can be made comparatively more val.

The interest on the purchase of a large farm might be expended annually in the purchase of guano. It appears to me, moreover, that it is a fertilizer peculiary adapted to those portions of country which have not access to lime, marl, and plaster, as the product is not in proportion to the fertility of the soil to which it is applied, being almost as great on poor as on fertile soils. The Hammer.

The following appropriate panegyric on this primitive instrument, which was the first invention in mechanics, and perhaps also the first in war, is taken from the Scientific American.

The hammer is the universal emblem of mechanics.

With it are alike forged the sword of contention and the ploughshare of peaceful agriculture—the press of the free and the shackles of the brave. The eloquence of the forum has moved the armies of Greece and Rome to a thousand battle-fields, but the eloquence of the hammer has covered those fields with victory or defeat. The inspiration of song has kin-dled high hopes and noble aspirations in the bosoms f brave knights and gentle dames, but the aspiration f the hammer has strewn the field with tattered helm and shield, decided not only the fate of chivalric combat, but the fate of thrones, crowns, and king-doms. The forging of a thunderbolt was ascribed by the Greeks as the highest act of Jove's omnipotence, Sidney, New Jersey, July 12, 1848.

Dr. A. H. Christie—Dear Sir: You wish to know of me what has been the result in my own case, of the application of the Galvanic Belt and Necklace. My reply is as follows:
For about teenty years I had been suffering from Dyspepsia. Every year the symptoms became worse, nor could I obtain permanent relief from any course of medical treatment whatever. My physicians were skilful and excellent men; but here their prescriptions failed. About fourteen years since, in consequence of frequent exposure to the weather, in the discharge of my pastoral duties, I became subject to a severe Chronie Rheumatium, which for year after year, caused me indescribable anguish. In the severer paroxysms, the skill of my physicians sometimes afforded me great relief; but this relief was only temporary. Farther: in the winter of '45 and Yours with respect.

That said Townsend stated he was an old man and poor, and was not fit for hard labor, and wished to make some money in order to live easy in his old days, and that if Sarsaparilla, under the name of Townsend, sold so well, and so much money was made by it, he could see no reason why he might not make something out of it too, (his name being Townsend,) if he could get a capable person to prepare a recipe and manufacture it for him. Deponent, in one of the conversations, asked said Townsend if he was related to Dr. S. P. Townsend; to which he replied that he knew Dr. S. P. would be down on to which he replied that he knew Dr. S. P. would be down on him after he should commence, but that he did not care for him, as he had formed a co-partnership with men who could furnish the requisite amount of capital—and was well prepa-red to defend himself against any attack that might be made Deponent further says, that pursuant to the request of said Deponent further says, that pursuant to the request of said Jacob Townsend, he wrote a recipe for the manufacture of a Syrup of Sarsaparilla and gave it to him. Said Townsend observed that he wanted to make a specimen to exhibit to his partners for their approval, as he wished to gratify them in everything, as they furnished all the capital. Said Townsend also told deponent that the bottles they were to use were to be of the same size and shape as Dr. S. P.'s; and deponent, at the request of said Jacob Townsend, went to the office of Dr. S. P. and procured one of his labels.

And deponent further says that he has been informed, and verily believes, the Syrup of Sarsaparilla sold as Old Dr. Jacob Townsend's, is made after the recipe furnished by deponent to Jacob Townsend, as aforesaid.

And further deponent said not.

And further deponent said not.
